Buckeye GSPC Spring Field Trial April 23rd & 24th

Submitted by Anne Weslow

We had 135 entries, of which 128 dogs ran. The grounds were in very good condition. We had great weather and great team work (some pretty good shooting too) to make for a very smooth trial. Scott and I want to thank everyone for your help and participation. In addition to helping with the judging, we had numerous club members and some that aren't (yet), chipping in bagging birds and spending long hours in the saddle planting birds. Many members also donated food for lunches or appetizers and helped keep the kitchen running smoothly. A trial this size requires a ton of effort and co-operation from everyone involved. A special thanks goes out to Charlie Brown (Stake Manager) and Fred Ryan (Secretary) for running a great trial.

See you in the fall!! Oct 8 and 9, 2016.

NGSPA of Ohio Championships April 25-28, 2016

Submitted by Jen Sheehan

After a busy, well-run event hosted by the Buckeye GSP Club, we slowed things down a bit for the beginning of the Ohio Championships. We started the week off with 80 degrees and sunshine, but Ohio proved to be fickle and showed us a little bit of everything; including rain, thunder, lightning, and high winds. We persevered, with the help of our dedicated club members, and had 50 dogs vying for the top spots in 3 events.

President — Dennis Meinke

We just returned from a fine week of running dogs; the NGSPA Ohio Championships, the GSPCO weekend horseback trial and a quick run over to the Oak Ridge Pointing Dog Club's hunt test. It was a pretty fair week for running dogs a little rain and some cold days but all went very well. I want to thank everyone who either help run these trials or participated.

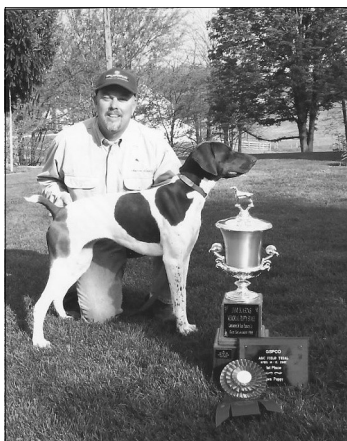

Special thanks goes out to Doc Reynolds, Chris Young and Jen Sheehan who lead the way in putting on the GSPCO trial and the Ohio Championship. As always club members provided good support with bird planting, fields marshaling, food service, happy hour, and raffle along with many other ways. Nice when a team pulls together to get a big job done.

Next is the Specialty Show on July 16th followed by Versatility Day August 6th then on to our fall horseback field trial September 24&25th followed by Hunt Test October 1st and 2nd. Please mark your calendars and come out and support these events.

Membership Secretary — Sherry Meinke

I would like to welcome new member Matthew and Lisa Budrett and returning members Meredith Mays, Cliff Mesnard and George Epling.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT DOG FLU

You can get the flu but did you know your dog can as well? It's called canine influenza (CIV) – or dog flu – and cases of it have been popping up all over the country. In fact, canine influenza has impacted dogs in more than half the country – just since March 2015 – and new cases are being diagnosed every week. It's made dogs sick (some very ill) and some dogs have died as a result of CIV. Many reported cases occurred in healthy dogs between 1 and 7 years of age.

As a pet owner, here's what you need to know. There are two strains of canine influenza present in the dog population – H3N8 and H3N2, the latter is an Asian strain of CIV and is brand new in the United States.

A dog may shed CIV H3N2 for up to 24 days, which means the dog is contagious and spreading the disease during that time period. As a result, the infection can spread quickly among social dogs in inner cities, doggie daycares, boarding facilities, dog parks, sporting and show events and any location where dogs commingle. H3N2 is also incredibly contagious. It can be spread easily by direct contact with infected dogs (sniffing, licking, nuzzling), through the air (coughing, barking or sneezing), and by contact with contaminated objects such as dog bowls and clothing.

Protect Your Dog

- To prevent the spread of disease, wash your hands with soap and water or disinfect them with an alcohol-based hand sanitizer after contact with dogs.
- Dog owners whose dogs are coughing or showing other signs of respiratory disease should not participate in activities where other dogs can be exposed to the virus.
- Consider vaccination against both strains of CIV based on your dog's lifestyle and risk factors. If you answer yes to one or more of the questions below, your dog is at greater risk for contracting canine influenza. Does your dog:
  - Visit doggie day care?
  - Board at a boarding facility or pet hotel?
  - Attend training classes?
  - Play at dog parks?
  - Participate in dog-friendly events?
  - Attend dog shows or sporting events?
  - Often greet other dogs during walks?

Signs of CIV

Call your veterinarian immediately if your dog has the following symptoms:

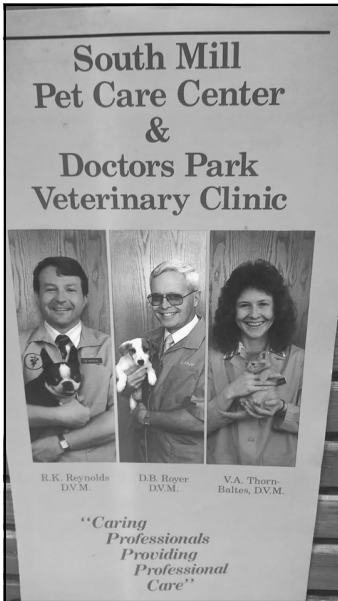

- Coughing
- Discharge from the nose or eyes
- Loss of appetite
- Lethargy/lack of energy

If you'd like more information about canine influenza, please call our office. You also will find valuable pet owner information at doginfluenza.com.

About our members.....

Submitted by Doc Reynolds and Eileen Smith

Robert Reynolds, DVM, aka "DOC" has been an active member of the GSPCO since 1998; winning the Sportsman of the Year Award in 2013 and holding the office of Treasurer of the Club since 2010. Doc has given the community 44 years of dedicated service and expertise.

Doc was born in Grove City, Pa., graduated from Ohio State College of Veterinary Medicine and is married to Amy Harris Reynolds. Doc is associated with South Mill Pet Care and Doctors Park Veterinary Clinic in Canfield. On April 26th you could find Doc at the Reynolds Maternity Ward where he performed a C-section on first-time mom Izzy, and continuing hands-on care for these pups.

Any other interests: I am an avid hunter, but as the wild bird hunting disappeared from our area I became involved in competition because of my love for bird dogs. With retirement on the horizon, I am looking forward to more family time and enjoying dogs, horses and friends.

Why GSPs: I have had bird dogs since I was in high school. First an English Setter, then 4 Wiems, the last who was the most beautiful you have ever seen. She couldn't find a bird if it was between her legs, so I looked in the want ads and saw an ad for a GSP.

I had always liked the ones who were my patients so I bought a puppy that my son named Vader. After her first hunt test title and puppy placement, I was hooked! A dozen GSPs later, I am still hooked!

Kendell with Gale Graves

Submitted by Meredith Mays

My 10 year old daughter, Kendall ran a derby dog this weekend at the GSPC of Ohio. Her brace mate was Chris Goegan, a GSP pro from Ohio. I will say....he was an amazing sportsman, he stayed right beside her, helped her turn her dog, told her when to blow her whistle, when to get off her horse, he concentrated solely on helping her. I was so impressed with his mannerism. Justin Allen and I judged her so she couldn't be placed because she is my daughter. But she won the stake with the pup that had three very steady finds.

Blast from the past.

Submitted by Laurie Brown

Found this, and after we were talking about the "good old days" at Killdeer and these exact horses, thought it would be fun to post. Circa October 1996/ Scott Weslow on Magic, Gale Graves on Boots, and Charlie Brown on Rocky! Gosh the boys look like babies!!

Condolences to Kelly and Jerry Custer

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to Kelly and Jerry Custer on their loss of Niki. No one ever told her that she was not a shorthair. She was well-known to the shorthair community and will be missed. RIP little one.

Memorial Day

Northeast Ohio experienced a mild winter and spring. Our thoughts turn to summer. While summer does not actually arrive until June 20, we associate Memorial Day as the beginning of summer where we enjoy picnics and cookouts.

Many of us remember Memorial Day being called Decoration Day. The holiday began after the Civil War. It is not the anniversary of any particular battle in the Civil War, but a day set aside to remember the fallen soldiers decorating their graves with flowers. In 1873, New York was the first state to officially recognize the last Monday in May as Decoration Day and by 1890 all northern states celebrated it. Unfortunately, the South chose to celebrate Decoration Day on a separate day. In order to bring unity on remembering our fallen heroes, after World War I the holiday became a day to honor all fallen American soldiers in any military battle not just the Civil War. In 1971, Congress changed the name of the holiday to Memorial Day and proclaimed it a national holiday.

Did you ever wonder why on Memorial weekend, the veterans sold silk poppy flowers? In 1915 Lt. Col. John Crae, a doctor in the Canadian army wrote a war poem, "In Flanders Field." In his poem, McCrea wrote that "In Flanders fields, the poppies blow between the crosses, row on row, that mark our place..." Moina Michael, a professor at the University of Georgia, responded with her own poem, "We Shall Keep the Faith." The first two lines read, "We cherish too, the poppy red that grows on fields where valor led." It was her idea to wear poppies on Memorial Day to represent a badge of honor to our fallen soldiers. Later, while teaching a class of disabled veterans, she realized that these veterans need financial and occupational support; so she began to sell silk poppies with all the funds going to support disabled veterans.

While visiting the United States from France, Madam Guerin took home the idea of selling poppies with all the proceeds going to help war-orphaned children. This idea was so popular that Madam Guerin eventually turned this idea into the VFW — Veterans of Foreign Wars. In 1922, the VFW was the first veterans organization to nationally sell “poppies.”

This year, when you are approached by someone selling poppies, remember to give in memory of those who gave the ultimate sacrifice. Wear it proudly.

Shorthairs in the News

On March 24, 2016, Los Angeles Airport Police dog put his nose to the test and was instrumental in discovering a flight attendant carrying 70 pounds of cocaine worth over $2 million in her carry-on bag. This was just another day at work for four-year old GSP Nori, who is just one of the 37 canine units at the Los Angeles LAX airport. These dogs are trained by the National Explosives Detection Canine Team Program and are then assigned to both TSA-led and state and local law enforcement-led canine teams. GSPs, along with other breeds such as Vizslas, German Sheppards, and Labs are known for their keen sense of smell and endurance. <https://www.tsa.gov/news/testimony/2014/06/24/canine-teams-effectiveness-securing-transportation-systems>.

According to a local canine officer, constant and repetitive training is required

When training narcotics dogs, you have to decide what language your commands will be in: English, German, Czech, Dutch or French. The officer explained that you set up a box with an odor in it and a tennis ball. The fourth side of the box is open. You hype your dog up and take him to the box to sniff and get the odor. You make the dog sit and feed the ball to the dog while praising and enforcing the sit command. Place your hand in the open side of the box and feed your dog the tennis ball through the top of the box. This step is repeated as many times as necessary until the dog eventually sits on his own. You then add another box to the training exercise which has no odor, which is referred to as a blank. The dog has to learn NOT to sit. This exercise is repeated until the dog learns to sit on the box with the odor. A third box is introduced, following the same steps but this time you begin throwing the ball over the dog's head or at his feet for a reward. Be careful the dog does not see you throw the ball. The dog should be staring at the box with the odor. Add a fourth box to the training, placing the boxes in what is called "four corners." Repeating the training exercise established above except you start putting smaller pieces of the ball in with the odor, eventually you will not put any ball pieces in with the odor. You are now ready to start teaching the search pattern. Start with easy finds along a wall so the dog has to search for the odor, reinforcing the training exercise when necessary. Slowly start working the dog on different areas to search, which reinforces odor and works on search patterns along with leash control.
